Department of BIBLICAL & THEOLOGICAL STUDIES

Northwestern College puts the Lord Jesus Christ and His Word at the center of all activities. The Scriptures are the integrating core for all academic programs. This commitment means that (1) the Bible is the most urgent concern of persons who study and work at the College, (2) the Bible provides answers to some of humanity's basic questions and establishes a theological frame of reference for education at the College, and (3) the Bible defines principles and standards for determining the purpose for which all learning is to be used.

Therefore, the purpose of the Department of Biblical & Theological Studies is to promote the central place of the Scriptures as the theological frame of reference for the curriculum. The department seeks to teach students the Bible as "the whole counsel of God," focused on the Lord Jesus Christ, and to train them to interpret and apply biblical content; to help students develop a life submitted to Christ and ordered by biblical ethics so that they can be steadfast spiritually in the midst of life's incongruities and trials; to equip students to develop a biblical worldview; to expose students to ministry in the church and to the world; and to enhance a climate of love and respect for one another in the learning environment.

Zondervan/Northwestern College Ancient Languages Awards
With the intent of inspiring students in their studies, Zondervan Publishing House initiated annual award programs to recognize outstanding achievement in the study of biblical Greek and biblical Hebrew. Northwestern College has entered into a participation agreement with Zondervan, according to which the Biblical & Theological Studies Department establishes selection criteria and the College presents these awards at the yearly Honors Convocation. The winners receive the prize of a Zondervan product (such as the Exhaustive Greek Concordance), a commemorative item (such as a medal), and the recognition of having his/her name engraved on a perpetual plaque displayed in the Berntsen Library. Northwestern has an additional Ancient & Classical Languages Award for an advanced language student each year. For more information, contact the chairperson of the Department of Biblical & Theological Studies.

Biblical Studies Major Bachelor of Arts

The Biblical Studies major is designed to provide in-depth study and preparation in Bible and related areas and subjects. It is intended for students who wish to pursue graduate studies in preparation for teaching, for those who desire a solid pre-seminary program, or for persons who wish to gain a high proficiency in biblical studies. The degree is granted upon completion of 125 credits as specified on pages 41–42 (40 credits must be in 3000- or 4000-level courses).

Philosophy Major Bachelor of Arts

The Philosophy major is designed to develop capacities and desires for sustained and careful thinking about fundamental questions regarding the world and life and for extended critical conversation regarding others' worldviews, the truth of basic beliefs, and logical relations between beliefs. It is also designed to develop a set of skills needed for these. All of this is rooted in a background of historic Christian theology, in particular the basic truth that God is acting according to plan for his purpose in Christ. Students completing this major will, therefore, possess intellectual abilities important for life as a whole, beyond the knowledge and skills required for any particular profession. The degree is granted upon completion of 125 credits, as specified on page 40-41 (40 credits must be in 3000- or 4000-level courses).

Certificate in Bible: Biblical Worldview Theme . . . . . .32 cr

The Certificate in Bible is designed for those desiring concentrated training in the Word of God. It assists students to become established in the faith, rooted and grounded in the Word, and fortified with answers to humanity's primary questions regarding life's purpose and destiny. It provides tools for continuing Bible study and for effective Christian witness. It is of value to professional men and women going to the mission field and needing such a concentrated study of the Bible. The Certificate in Bible is granted upon completion of the same Bible credits included in Northwestern College's bachelor's degrees.
