Teacher Education Programs

The Northwestern Department of Education seeks to prepare professional educators for service within public or private schools who will engage the individuals and communities they serve through student centered and culturally competent practices that are grounded in a biblical worldview and effective professional preparation; guided by commitments to servant leadership, reflective inquiry, and an appreciation for diversity; and motivated by an awareness of teaching as an inspired calling.

Programs are structured to support the development of candidates

- who are educated in the liberal arts;
- who are well prepared in the subject matter they will teach;
- who are exemplary practitioners, applying a deep understanding of effective teaching and learning to serve the needs of all learners;
- who engage in culturally competent practices;
- who build effective partnerships with families;
- who collaborate effectively to support learning within both the school community and the broader professional community;
- who engage in reflective inquiry to support their continual development as professionals;
- who apply a biblical worldview to their professional decision making; and
- who model servant leadership within their professional contexts.

A wide range of P–12 school partnerships enable teacher candidates to have extensive interaction with current practitioners in the field while also receiving mentoring from Northwestern faculty.

Admission to a Teacher Education Program

Students wishing to enroll in a teacher education program at Northwestern College must first be accepted into the education program through a formal admission process. Students pursuing a Music Education major must successfully complete the Sophomore Interview through the Department of Music (see page 102) prior to being accepted into a teacher education program.

To be considered for admission to a teacher education program, a student must:

1. Achieve a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 on a 4.00 scale, based upon a minimum of 50 semester credits earned from Northwestern College. A transfer student must be enrolled for at least one semester at Northwestern College before being admitted to a teacher education program.
2. Submit a completed Open/Closed File form to the Department of Education.
3. Complete EDU2215 Educational Foundations or an equivalent transfer course with a grade of "C" or above.
4. Submit evidence of a successful field experience in EDU2215 Educational Foundations or an equivalent transfer course.
5. Submit an autobiography and teaching decision paper to the Department of Education.
6. Submit a completed set of timed essays. These are usually completed as part of the EDU2215 Educational Foundations course.
7. Demonstrate English proficiency by receiving a "B-" or above in ENG1105 Composition or ENG1825 Honors Composition and by successfully completing the Editing Competency Examination.

   Students not achieving the required grade in ENG1105 or ENG1825 must successfully complete ENG0109 with a grade of "C" or above.
8. Achieve a grade of "C" or above in ENG2205 Critical Thinking and Writing or ENG2825 Honors Critical Thinking and Writing.
9. Demonstrate speech proficiency by receiving a "B-" or above in SPE1075 Public Speaking or SPE1825 Honors Public Speaking.

   Students not achieving a "B-" or above in this course must submit a "Certification of Proficiency in Speech" form signed by the course instructor.
10. Successfully pass the MTLE (Minnesota Teacher Licensure Exam): Basic Skills Test or submit a plan for remediation and retesting following a first attempt at the test. This basic skills test in reading, writing, and mathematics is a licensure requirement in the state of Minnesota. Information regarding this test is available in the Education Office.
11. Interview with the Department of Education's Admission and Retention Committee. The student must meet with the committee and be accepted into a teacher education program before taking selected 3000- and 4000-level Education classes.

Retention in the Teacher Education Program

Retention in the Teacher Education Program is based on the following:

1. Maintaining a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75.
2. Maintaining a GPA of at least 2.75 in the major.
3. Meeting all minimum grade requirements as defined in the College Catalog.
4. Obtaining satisfactory field experience recommendations.
5. Successfully completing all Professional Behavior Plans and Academic Progress Plans required by the Admission and Retention Committee.
6. Students in the teacher education program must be able to demonstrate the health, safety, and stamina necessary for working with children and young adults. The Admission and Retention Committee may request documentation from a health care professional in verifying a student's ability to meet health, safety, and stamina standards and may use this information in decisions related to retention and long-term program planning.

If the appropriate GPA is not maintained, consideration may be given by the Department of Education to dismiss the student from the teacher education program or to counsel the student into another program area.

A student receiving less than the minimum grade a second time in a course which the Education Department or major specifies as requiring a minimum grade, will result in automatic termination of enrollment in a teacher education program. Minimum grade requirements are listed in the Education section of the College Catalog.

If a student receives a negative evaluation from a field experience, that experience must be repeated successfully before student teaching. A field experience may be repeated only once.

The Admission and Retention Committee will make the final decision in dismissal cases. All dismissal cases may be appealed.

FOR FURTHER DETAILS REGARDING ADMISSION AND RETENTION IN TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAMS, SEE THE NORTHWESTERN COLLEGE TEACHER EDUCATION HANDBOOK.

Teacher Licensure

Students who successfully complete teacher education programs at Northwestern College and who meet Minnesota teacher licensure requirements are eligible to apply to the Minnesota Board of Teaching for licensure in their program areas. Students should follow the licensure application process outlined in the Teacher Education Handbook. Copies of the handbook are available in the Department of Education office. All first-time licensure candidates are required to pay a fee and have a criminal background check completed as part of the licensure application process.

Licensure candidates must meet the licensure requirements that are current at the time of program completion. These requirements take precedence over all earlier curriculum requirements. Students are encouraged to work closely with an academic advisor in order to be aware of changes in licensure requirements that may affect their programs.

Candidates applying for Minnesota teacher licensure are required by Minnesota teacher licensure laws to successfully complete standardized tests as part of the licensure system. As of September 1, 2010, candidates are required to complete the Minnesota Teacher Licensure Exams (MTLE) in basic skills, pedagogy and content knowledge. Information about these tests is available in the Teacher Education Handbook and in the Department of Education office.

Tk20 CampusTools HigherEd System

All students who are admitted to a teacher education program as a professional student or who are enrolled in courses offered by the education department are required to be subscribed to the Tk20 CampusTools HigherEd System (Tk20). Students are charged a one-time fee for this service that provides access to the system for at least seven years. This allows candidates to retain work completed through their courses for use in electronic portfolios even after program completion. The system also provides the essential platform for departmental assessment and is critical for the video-based assessments used in student teaching.

Post-Baccalaureate Teacher Licensure Program

Students who already have an earned bachelor's degree and wish to complete the requirements for Minnesota teacher licensure may apply for the post-baccalaureate teacher licensure program. Candidates for the post-baccalaureate program must be admitted to Northwestern College and meet all requirements for Admission to Teacher Education programs. In addition, they must have earned a bachelor's degree from a four-year, regionally accredited institution with a GPA of at least 2.75 on a 4.00 scale. The bachelor's degree major must be applicable to the area of licensure, as determined by the Department of Education. Candidates interested in the post-baccalaureate teacher licensure program should contact the Office of Admissions. No degree is granted for post-baccalaurate teacher education course work completed at Northwestern.

Educational Studies Major

A degree program in educational studies is available upon recommendation by the Department of Education. The major does not lead to teacher licensure in the state of Minnesota. Students interested in this major should consult with their academic advisor or the Chairperson of the Department of Education. This program is not open to students with pre-professional program standing.

Admission to Student Teaching

All students who have been admitted to the teacher education program and who wish to complete student teaching must be formally admitted to student teaching in their major.

This is accomplished by completing the following procedures:

A. The student determines with his/her advisor the projected year and semester of student teaching, based on successful completion of EDU3216 Instructional Foundations (Grades K–12) or EDU3246 Instructional Foundations (Grades PK–8) and all methods courses, and reports this to the Director of Student Teaching. EDU3216 or EDU3246 must be taken before methods courses.

B. The student attends an orientation meeting with the Director of Student Teaching during the fall semester of the school year preceding student teaching.

C. The student completes the application material for student teaching and returns it to the Director of Student Teaching by the deadline set at the orientation meeting. Late applications may result in an appeal and a delay in the student teaching semester. INCOMPLETE APPLICATIONS WILL NOT BE ACCEPTED. The student must notify the Director of Student Teaching of any changes in the information.

The following items comprise the application for student teaching.

1. Student Teaching Application
2. Student's Personal Data Form
3. Employment and Activities Clearance
4. Health Clearance
5. Program Completion Plan
6. Professional Behavior Plan Clearance
7. Academic Progress Plan Clearance

D. The student must meet with the Admission and Retention Committee during the semester preceding student teaching. This meeting is called and led by the Coordinator of the major in which the student is seeking licensure. During this meeting, the committee will review the student's application for student teaching and provide a recommendation regarding admission to student teaching.

In order to receive final clearance by the Admission and Retention Committee to student teach, the student MUST satisfy the following requirements:

1. Obtain "Human Relations Clearance" from the Director of Human Relations. Clearance is obtained after all Human Relations components have been successfully completed. The student should complete the requirement prior to the senior year, whenever possible.
2. Have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 in all Northwestern College course work at the end of the semester preceding student teaching.
3. Have a cumulative GPA of at least 2.75 within the major and pass all major and minor field courses with a grade of "C" or above.
4. Remove all course incompletes and any grades below "C" in the education core or grades below departmental standards within the major or minor. Courses requiring minimum grades before student teaching are listed below.
5. Successfully complete all course work in the education major or minor, including field placements.
6. Successfully complete all Professional Behavior Plans. Obtain clearance from the Department of Education office.
7. Successfully complete all Academic Progress Plans. Obtain clearance from the Department of Education office.

Students currently enrolled in their last methods courses may meet with the Admission and Retention Committee. However, final approval for student teaching is contingent upon satisfactory completion of all education core and methods courses.

E. Placement confirmation information will be sent from the Director of Student Teaching to the student. Although this information may be received prior to meeting with the Admission and Retention Committee, final approval for student teaching will be granted only after the student's meeting with the committee and demonstrating to them the completion of all requirements.

Once admitted to student teaching, it is the student teacher's responsibility to inform the Director of Student Teaching of any change or requests for change of status regarding the student teacher's health, employment, and activities involvement Requests for change of status will be reviewed by the Admission and Retention Committee.

F. The student teacher is required to register for EDU4835, Seminar in Professional Issues, the same semester as student teaching. Orientation sessions precede the placement start date. Due to liability issues, absences from any orientation session will result in the student being ineligible to student teach. In such cases, the student teaching experience will be rescheduled, usually the next semester.

Retention in Student Teaching

Retention in student teaching is dependent upon satisfactory evaluations from the cooperating teacher and the NWC supervisor throughout the student teaching placement.

Should academic or professional concerns regarding the student teacher's performance arise, an intervention meeting with the Admission and Retention Committee will be scheduled by the coordinator of the major.
Withdrawal from a student teaching placement for any reason results in termination of all future student teaching placements and will require the candidate to reapply to the student teaching program.

Additional student teaching may be required as recommended by the supervisor and supported by the final evaluation submitted by the cooperating teacher or the NWC supervisor.

Tuition refund and transcript notation policies defined in the catalog for all Northwestern courses apply to withdrawal from student teaching.

Readmission to Student Teaching

A student who wishes to be readmitted to student teaching after a withdrawal or termination from student teaching must reapply for admission to student teaching. Student teaching may be repeated only once, for a total of two attempts. All repeats of student teaching are subject to the approval of the Department of Education Admission and Retention Committee. Procedures for reapplying to student teaching may be found in the Teacher Education Handbook, which is available in the Department of Education Office.

Admission Procedures

Applicants desiring to pursue a Bachelor of Music Education degree should follow standard admissions procedures with the Office of Admissions. Entering freshmen who indicate their intent to work toward a music education degree are considered pre-music majors until they successfully complete both the Sophomore Interview and admission to the Teacher Education program.

Auditions: Ensembles and Private Lessons
All music majors are required to participate in a major performance ensemble and to take private study in their primary performance area. Auditions are held during New Student Orientation which occurs the week before classes begin, and designated summer auditions.

Sophomore Interview
During the sophomore year, the Sophomore Interview is to be held before the music faculty. The Interview is to determine the student's progress in lower-level music courses and to formally grant status as a music major, thereby permitting access to 4XXX-level music courses. Please contact the Music Office for information and guidelines regarding the Sophomore Interview.

Music Theory Placement Exam
Music major applicants with no previous college theory coursework must take the Online Theory Placement Exam before the day of their audition. Test results are used as part of the admission decision and to place students in the appropriate theory course. More information is available from the Music Office.

Transfer Students

- All transfer music major applicants must go through the Music Audition Application process (including the Online Theory Placement Exam) in order to be admitted (see www.nwc.edu/music).
- At least fifty percent of the required ensemble credits for a music major/minor must be completed at NWC.
- The number of applied lesson credits accepted by NWC will be determined after one semester of applied lessons at NWC.
- Transfer credit for coursework in music theory or sight singing/ear training will be accepted only by placement exam. This policy applies to both transfer applicants and current NWC students. Transfer credit and/or placement in the NWC theory and sight singing/ear training sequence will be based on the applicant's performance on the exam. Contact the Department of Music to schedule an exam (651-631-5218 or 888-878-5514).

Grades
All course work in the major, both music and education, must be passed with a grade of "C" or above.

Special Education Minor. . . . . 20 cr

The Special Education minor provides foundational preparation for working with special populations of students labeled within the categories of EBD (Emotional Behavioral Disorders) or SLD (Specific Learning Disabilities). The minor does not lead to full teacher licensure in these areas. Students completing the minor need to continue their studies on a graduate level in order to fully qualify for licensure as a special education teacher.

Required Courses: EDU2215, 3218; SPD2215, 3215, 3218, 4315, 4415, 4415L.

Students who are not education majors may complete a special education minor for non-school settings. Students choosing this option must complete an application and submit it to the Education office prior to enrolling in any SPD courses. A minimum cumulative GPA of 2.50 and an advisor's recommendation are required for admission to the minor. Students completing the non-school minor replace SPD4415 and SPD4415L with SPD4425 and SPD4425L.
