The Jennifer M. Fund

Help a student when it matters most

OFFICE OF PARENT RELATIONS

Students who are away from their hometowns—or even their home countries—for college have unique needs when the unexpected happens in their lives. The Northwestern College Jennifer M. Fund assists students who face family emergencies or crises by providing for transportation, medical, or other expenses that may be incurred as they deal with these situations.

The Jennifer M. Fund has helped students make their way across the country and across the world to help or be with their families when loved ones have been ill or when dealing with the tragedy of loss.

Your gift to the Jennifer M. Fund can help assure that a student facing unexpected circumstances is free to focus on what matters most when difficult situations arise: being with family, not worrying about finances. You can give today by using the form below or giving to the Jennifer M. Fund online at nwc.edu/give.

Your gift will help a student when it matters most.

Jennifer's story

Jennifer McLoughlin was a Northwestern College student from Newton, N.J. who loved her Lord, loved her family, and loved life. As a ministries major, Jennifer once said, "I'm not sure exactly where I want to go with my major, but I do know that I want to serve God as best I can and hopefully make a difference for Him in people's lives."

During her junior year she was involved in a tragic car accident and went home to be with the Lord. Her family knows firsthand the challenges of working through the unexpected, yet in their sorrow they saw opportunity to help Jennifer continue to fulfill her goal of making a difference. The McLoughlins, in partnership with the Office of Advancement, established the Jennifer M. Fund in her honor. As the fund serves NWC students in difficult times, we celebrate Jennifer's life and the difference she made in the lives of others.
